12.3. Capital City

Kampala is in the southern central part of the country, close to the shores of Lake Victoria. It was originally a city of seven hills but overtime has expanded. Key attractions in Kampala include the Uganda Museum, Kasubi Tombs (where the remains of the Kings of Buganda are buried), National Theater, Cathedrals - Rubaga and Namirembe, Gaddafi Mosque in Old Kampala, Bahai Temple and Kabaka's Palace, among others.

12.5. Population

Approx. 45 million people (2021). Uganda is inhabited by dozens of ethnic groups and is home to many tribes. Uganda has 56 tribes and about 9 indigenous communities that are formally recognized by the 1995 Constitution of the Republic of Uganda (as amended in 2005). These include Baganda, Banyankole, Basoga, Bakiga, Iteso, Langi, Acholi, Bagisu and Lugbara among others.

12.6. Language

English is the official language of Uganda. In Kampala, the commonly used languages are English and Luganda. Others languages spoken include; Lunyankole, Lusoga, Ateso, Luo, Lugisu, Lugbara and others.

12.7. Climate

Uganda has a warm tropical climate, with temperatures ranging from 17-29°C (63-84°F) for most of the year (April - November), apart from the mountainous areas, which are much cooler. However, during the warmer months (December - March) temperatures reach in excess of 30°C in some parts of the country.

12.8. History

Uganda became a British Protectorate in 1894 and was formed by bringing together a number of kingdoms, notably Buganda, Bunyoro, Toro, Busoga, Ankore and several chieftaincies. Uganda became independent from British colonial rule on 9th October 1962.

Since independence, Uganda has gone through various political changes. The immediate post-independence government was led by Sir Edward Mutesa as the first (non- executive) President (1962- 1966), followed by Apollo Milton Obote (1966-1971), Idi Amin Dada (1971-1979), Yusuf Kironde Lule (1979), Godfrey Lukongwa Binasisa (1979-1980), Paul Muwanga (1980), Apollo Milton Obote (1981-1985), Tito Okello Lutwa (1985-1986) and Yoweri Kaguta Museveni (1986 to date).

Under the Leadership of President Yoweri Kaguta Museveni, the National Resistance Movement (NRM) government has revitalized the country, providing political stability, a growing economy, macroeconomic stability and an improved infrastructure’.

12.9. The Government

Uganda is a multiparty democracy and Unitary State comprised of three arms, namely:

- The Executive: Comprising of President, Vice President, Prime Minister and Cabinet.

12.10. Economy

Uganda is endowed with substantial natural resources; extremely fertile soils, regular rainfall, substantial reserves of recoverable oil and small deposits of copper, gold and other minerals.

Following the 1986 liberalization of the economy, Uganda has experienced accelerated growth of over 6% in the past 30 years in all sectors of the economy, especially in private sector investment that has improved efficiency of service delivery.

Agriculture however, remains the Uganda’s backbone, employing close to 60% of the labour force and providing approximately half of the country’s export earnings. For a long time, coffee was the key export alongside tea, tobacco and cotton, and these export crops made up the bulk volume and value of Uganda’s exports. However, in recent years Uganda has come to rely on non-traditional exports like flowers, fish and tourism.

Accelerated regional co-operation has seen an increase in Uganda’s export volumes to African countries, with the bulk destined to Common Market for Eastern and Southern Africa (COMESA) and East African Community (EAC) countries, with the rest going to the European Union (EU). In line with Uganda Vision 2040, Uganda is on the path to transformation from low income to middle-income status.
